

Real Stories....

Our teenage son woke up experiencing pains in his left side late in the evening. Since the pain wasn't extremely severe, we weren't sure whether we needed to take him to the ER or wait until morning and take him to our doctor. We consulted with our telemedicine doctor. After a few minutes, he concluded it was most likely the onset of a gall bladder problem and advised we go to the ER immediately. He also said to be sure the ER nurse was aware of his possible diagnosis so that we would be handled accordingly in their triage evaluation. Amazingly even though the ER was filled with various people with issues he was taken right in because of the doctor's referral. Knowing we have a doctor available anytime is an incredible value to us and we wouldn't be without our telemedicine service!

After a great vacation in Europe we had one more night in Boston to take in a game at Fenway before returning home. As we were in final approach to land, I experienced bad pain and plugging in my ears. I waited for about an hour at the hotel room with no change in condition. I never experienced anything like this. I thought for sure something was seriously wrong and was a bit panicked. Instead of going to an Urgent Care or ER I decided to try a telemedicine call first right from the hotel room. In less than 5 minutes a licensed physician from Massachusetts was on the phone with me going over exactly what condition I had. Not only did he calm me down, he prescribed drops for the pain and an antibiotic for the infection. The doctor located a nearby pharmacy and my husband was able to grab a cab and return with the medications in less than 25 minutes. We didn't miss the game that evening! I will NEVER be without this service, EVER. Customer for life!!!
